

2025 Altamont Summer Programs Offerings

For Credit and Online Offerings

-Online Driver's Education

Get that golden ticket to bypass the DMV driving test when your child turns 16! This course consists of an online asynchronous educational course followed by at least two hours of in-person driving time with the instructor. The driving time must be scheduled and paid for separately with the instructor, at a cost of $70 per hour. The driving portion may be scheduled for any time in the summer, fall, or spring, as long as the student has a valid permit and has completed the online course.

*Please note this course will have an additional $140 cost that will be paid directly to the instructor when your students schedules their required 2 hour driving sessions.

- Open to Rising 9th-12th Graders
- Cost: $275 (Plus additional $140 paid to instructor for driving sessions)

-For Credit Course-Geometry

In geometry, students learn to appreciate Euclidean geometry as a deductive system. Accordingly, the students study formal logic early in the course and use it throughout. Starting with undefined terms, postulates, and definitions, the students follow the progressive development of theorems to create a mathematical structure with rich aesthetic and practical value. In building this axiomatic structure, they improve their ability to recognize and organize the various relationships among points, lines, triangles, polygons, and circles in a plane. This course also includes the study of geometry with coordinates and the solid geometry of common shapes.

*Pre-requisite of completion of Algebra 1 and approval from Math department is required for students to officially enroll.

- Class Dates: June 2nd-July 11th (No Class on Thursday, June 19th or Friday, July 4th) 8:00 AM-12:00 PM
- Open to Rising 9th or 10th graders
- Cost: $1,650

Weekly Day Camp Offerings

Week of May 27-30

Morning Sessions-8:30-11:30

- Brain Boosters: Math and English Adventures -Morning Session

- Cost: $250
- 3rd-4th grades:
 - English: Using Wendelin Van Drannen's Sammy Keyes and the Hotel Thief, campers will read and discuss what makes a good mystery. With an emphasis on plot elements and characterization, this summer session is designed for students to have fun creating their own mysteries. Each day will focus on reading, writing, and creative expression (art, story boarding, etc.).
 - Math: Students will focus on building a strong foundation in whole number concepts. Through interactive activities, games, and real-world problem-solving, campers will dive into addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, place value, and number patterns. Students will develop critical thinking skills while gaining confidence in their math abilities, all while having fun in a supportive environment.
- 5th-6th grades:
 - English: Students will develop critical thinking, inference-making, and analytical skills while exploring both short mysteries and longer texts. The program incorporates daily reading, writing, discussion, and creative activities. We will also explore how stories make the jump from the page to film as we examine short films based on the works of these masters of mystery. The first week will focus on the unique aspects of mystery stories.
 - Math: Students will dive deep into the essentials of addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division. Through hands-on activities, games, and challenges, campers will strengthen their understanding of how to use these operations in real-world situations. Whether it's mastering multi-step problems or building speed and accuracy, students will leave with a solid grasp of essential math skills, boosting both their confidence and problem-solving abilities.

-Sugar Rush: Cake & Cookie Decorating Camp

Welcome to Sweet Creations: Cake & Cookie Decorating Camp – the ultimate destination for young bakers with a passion for all things sweet! In this deliciously fun camp, campers will learn the art of cake and cookie decorating, from mastering icing techniques to creating edible masterpieces. Each day, they'll dive into hands-on activities, designing beautiful cakes, cookies, and cupcakes using colorful frosting and sprinkles. Whether crafting intricate designs or simple treats, campers will unleash their creativity, develop new baking skills, and take home their tasty creations to share with friends and family. Get ready for a fun, flour-filled adventure where imagination and sweetness take the lead!
